Project Logistics

... networking is team work

How does the tunnel boring machine get to the sea port? How does a mixing plant get to France? We know the right approach for this too. Our staff from Project Logistics bundle experience from the cranes and heavy loads fields. We combine our expertise into multi-modal transport and look for the perfect mode of transport for your requirement. As an owner-managed company, we have short decision-making and communication paths together with an excellent network. The combination of cranes, transport and loading via inland waterway vessel is our speciality. In addition, we organise the complete logistics chain from a „single source“, thus keeping communication simple for you while taking the goods safely and smoothly to their destination.
